To Whom it May Concern,

During my six-year tenure with the Ross Valley School District, we have had the pleasure of working with the GCCI, Inc. construction firm on multiple projects:

- Wade Thomas Elementary School Gen-7 Modular classroom project
- Hidden Valley Elementary School Gen-7 Modular classroom project
- Brookside Elementary School Multi-Purpose Building project
- Red Hill Renovation Project

The first two projects were under an extremely tight timeline and began immediately after school was out in mid-June and the classrooms were ready either before or shortly after school began in the fall. The two subsequent projects were larger with a longer timeline. From start to finish, they were there to see the project through with the utmost professionalism, quality of workmanship, accountability and commitment.

As you know, construction projects always come with their unique circumstances and unknown issues. In each and every situation, GCCI worked with our team to effectively and efficiently address them coming up with solutions that were thoughtful, cost conscientious while keeping the functionality and integrity of the issue in mind.

This family owned and operated business is all about pride of workmanship and delivering a project they stand behind and is evidenced by the number of projects we worked together on. It was a pleasure working with each and every one of their staff and I would gladly work with them again. While there are many specific examples I could provide, it would not do justice to try and convey them in a letter such as this. Rather, should you have any questions or need additional information, I can be reached (707) 326-8527 or via e-mail at mhoffman@rossvalleyschools.org.

Sincerely,
